PREFACE

The preparation of a bibliography of American Mennonite literature has become a necessity. The literature of the Mennonites of Europe has been largely collected and catalogued by the great Bibliothek der Doopsgezinde Gemeente at Amsterdam. In 1919 the Mennonite Church in Amsterdam published an extensive catalog of the literature by and about Mennonites and their history which was to be found in this library. (Catalogus der Werken over De Doopsgezinden en Hunne Geschiedenis aanwezig in de Bibliothek der Vereenigde Doopsgezinde Gemeente te Amsterdam. Amsterdam, J. H. de Bussy, 1919, pp. 357, 8vo.) But of American Mennonite literature there was no extensive collection anywhere as late as five years ago, much less a published catalog. The Mennonite Historical Library of the Mennonite Publishing House at Scottdale, Pa., rich as it is in the history of the Anabaptists and European Mennonites, contained but a portion of American Mennonite literature, and the few private collections of any note were either narrow in scope or slight in extent. A prime necessity for the Mennonite historian, the collection and cataloguing of the literature of the American Mennonites, was still to be supplied.

This task I undertook in the autumn of 1924. The Mennonite Historical Society of Goshen College, established at that time, was the vehicle for much of the work, and furnished slender but essential resources. Since most of the literature of earlier days was out of print, and not to be had even in the shops of antiquarians, it was necessary to make a personal search in the only places where this literature was to be found, namely in the homes of Mennonites. So the search proceeded. In these five years, through the gracious consent and aid of innumerable kind friends, I have sought the desired volumes in hundreds of homes in the more populous Mennonite centers of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ontario, Ohio and Indiana. It has been on the whole a pleasant and even delightful search. Often fruitless, yet occasionally it has been richly rewarded, to the joy of seeker and friend alike. The tragedies of book-collecting have pursued me likewise. It has been my lot to hear many times the doleful story of recent selling of old papers and books to the junk dealer, or of burning as rubbish at the last house cleaning. At places too, other seekers had preceded me, especially in Pennsylvania. Governor Pennypacker and A. H. Cassell of Harleysville had been everywhere, yet even they had not found everything. The most pleasant side of the experience was the almost uniform generosity. Seldom was any opposition met, but rarely was a price asked, and occasionally I was thanked and almost paid for taking the old books away. One kindly old lady in Lancaster County had been puzzled almost to distraction by the problem of her old German religious books. She could no longer read them; to throw them away was a sin; none of her friends wanted them; to sell them would have been a sacrilege. Out of a full heart she thanked me kindly for having been so kind as to relieve her of her books.

Thus was a mass of material collected. As the collection proceeded the formulation of a systematic bibliography became a necessity, first as a check list and secondly as a catalog. As both collection and bibliography continued to grow to unexpected proportions year by year the preparation of an exhaustive and critical bibliography seemed more and more a duty.

When the Mennonite Quarterly Review was established in January, 1927, a convenient vehicle for the publication of the bibliography presented itself. But as publication proceeded, what had been conceived as a brief list of about 75 pages expanded into one of double that size. During publication additional material was discovered, revisions became necessary and a more systematic organization suggested itself. Recognizing the value of having the material in convenient manual form the Mennonite Historical Society decided to publish the material as a book.

The purpose of this bibliography is to present as completely as possible a list of all the books, pamphlets, and periodicals, including all reprints, by Mennonites in the United States and Canada from the time of the first settlement until the end of the year 1928, together with all the essential bibliographical data. The list does not include books about Mennonites by non-Mennonites. It is not a bibliography of Mennonite history but one of Mennonite literature.

The list is intended to be complete to approximately 1880. To this time the attempt was made to include every piece of printed matter produced by Mennonites, including broadsides and small pamphlets. From this time on it became impossible to collect all the smaller items such as constitutions of various organizations, brief reports, printed poetry, etc. However, an attempt was made to include all other items down to the end of the year 1928, except non-religious productions. Naturally the material of this latter sort has been quite small. (In recent years more than 25 titles would fall under this heading, and most of these titles have been dissertations of a scientific or literary nature, a number of them being degree theses.) In addition to the first editions all reprints have been listed as they issued from the press, so that the list as it is constituted includes every separate production known to the compiler as it issued from the press. With very few exceptions every item was examined personally by the compiler or someone who acted as his agent, so that the information presented is first-hand. In a very few cases it became necessary to draw information from catalogs or book advertisements and announcements.

A word should be said about the policy adopted in listing periodicals. In some bibliographies the principle followed has been to list each year the title of all periodical publications. To have done so in this case would have meant a very substantial increase in the size of the book to no real value. Rather the policy followed has been to list the full original title of the periodical in the year of establishment, accompanied by a note presenting all available information concerning changes in size, name, publisher and place of publication.

The arrangement of the list is chronological and alphabetical. Within each year the imprints of that year are arranged alphabetically according to the last name of the author, or the first significant word in the title in case the author's name is unknown. With the first appearance of a title full bibliographical details are given. This includes: full title exactly as found in the original copy (even as to punctuation and spelling, erroneous though they may be) including all the material on the title page; author's full name; publisher, date, place (supplied if possible in case they are lacking from the title page); the number of numbered pages, including any appendices of significance; size in the conventional symbols such as 8vo, etc. (in case of recent publications of pamphlets the size is usually omitted); a list of libraries possessing copies of the item, symbols being used to represent the libraries.

Since the list has not been prepared as an exercise in the art of bibliography but as a working manual a number of bibliographical refinements have been omitted. For instance, no indications are given of the exact lines of the title, nor of the page measurement in centimeters or even inches, except in the case of broadsides and periodicals where it is of practical value. The collation of blank and unnumbered pages is also omitted. Likewise the conventional symbols which are used to indicate size, such as 8vo., etc., are not always technically exact representations of the printer's sheet-folds, but usually approximations, especially in the later issues, since the main purpose has been to give a notion of the approximate relative size. In fact to have followed meticulously the conventional symbols would frequently have led to actual misrepresentations.

The purpose then of this bibliography is to give the plain reader a concise, brief, yet complete summary of the literature of the Mennonites of America in the order of publication, according to the distinct groups in which the Mennonites find themselves. Occasionally where information of a historical nature concerning the separate items was available this has been appended in notes immediately following the title.

In the preparation of the book a number of bibliographies were found to be of use. For the early period of Mennonite literature several general bibliographies were of value. Chief among these was Charles Evans' unrivaled American Bibliography (Chicago, 1915ff) which has reached the year 1794. This work is an attempt to list every product of the American press from the beginning to 1820. Next in importance for the purpose of this book was Oswald Seidensticker's First Century of German Printing in America 1728-1830 (Philadelphia, 1893). Another work of value was Charles R. Hildeburn's A Century of Printing. The Issues of the Press in Pennsylvania, 1685-1784, 2 v. (Philadelphia, 1885-1886). Some help was also derived from Lottie M. Bausman's Bibliography of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, 1754-1912 (Lancaster, 1916). An exhaustive chronological list of the issues of the Saur and Leibert Press at Germantown is to be found in the Appendix to John S. Flory's Literary Activity of the German Baptist Brethren in the Eighteenth Century (Elgin, Illinois, 1908). Some slight aid was derived from W. O. Hausman's German-American Hymnology, a John Hopkins doctoral thesis reprinted in Americana Germanica by Professor M. D. Learned about 1894. Of the above lists, Evans and Flory are complete, Seidensticker and Hildeburn relatively so, while Bausman is only partially satisfactory. Bausman is also inadequate in respect to full titles and paging.

Only two lists of American Mennonite literature have been published, and both are but check-lists. The most useful is that found in John Horsch's Kurzgefasste Geschichte der Mennoniten-Gemeinden, Nebst einem Abriss der Grundsaetze und Lehren, sowie einem Verzeichniss der Literatur der Taufgesinnten (Elkhart, Ind., 1890). The Verzeichniss covers pages 107-133 under the title "Buecher und Schriften der Taufgesinnten." Section 1, pages 107-127, lists the printed works, while Section II lists the manuscripts of European origin. The list includes publications in both Europe and America. About 170 American titles are included. The list was carefully prepared and all the items in it had either been seen or verified by the compiler. The second list is to be found in L. J. Heatwole's Mennonite Handbook of Information (Scottdale, Pa., 1925). Chapter XXIV of this work, pages 131-143, under the heading, "List of American Mennonite Books and Periodicals", contains an extensive list of first editions of writings by members of the Mennonite Church. Other groups are almost altogether omitted. The list contains almost 250 titles, chronologically arranged, listing author, short title, date, and number of pages. It is a valuable list but is not critically edited, and for that reason needs some revision. Nor is it complete. The bibliographies in C. Henry Smith's two books, Mennonites of America (Goshen, Ind., 1909), and The Mennonites, A Brief History (Berne, Ind., 1920) are of less value for the purpose of this book since they are primarily lists of works and sources on American Mennonite History. However the chapter on "Literature and Hymnology" in the earlier work, pages 409-445, is a valuable treatment of the theme. A similar but much briefer chapter appears in the later work. John E. Hartzler's Education Among the Mennonites of America (Danvers, Ill., 1925) contains a special bibliography which furnishes some suggestions.

Of greater value than printed bibliographies however have been the collections of American Mennonite literature in public and private libraries. As indicated earlier in this introduction, the largest of these collections is to be found in the Mennonite Historical Library at Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana, which contains over ninety percent of the items listed in this bibliography. An extensive collection of American Mennonite titles is also to be found in the Mennonite Historical Library of the Mennonite Publishing House at Scottdale, Pa. The extensive private collection of John F. Funk of Elkhart, Indiana, has been purchased by the Mennonite Publishing House, although minor portions were secured by the Mennonite Historical Library at Goshen College. The valuable collection gathered by N. B. Grubb of Philadelphia, Pa., and now in the hands of his son S. M. Grubb of the same city, is especially rich in the earlier period and in the literature of the General Conference Mennonites. Another private collection is that of Dr. C. Henry Smith, Bluffton, Ohio. A small number of American items is to be found in the collection of the Mennonite Historical Society of the General Conference Mennonites which is in the custody of H. R. Voth of Newton, Kansas. Some items are also to be found in the college libraries of Bluffton College, Bluffton, Ohio, and Bethel College, Newton, Kansas.

In addition to the Mennonite libraries noted in the previous paragraph, a number of public libraries include a considerable amount of American Mennonite literature in their collections of early German-American printing. The largest of these is the one in the notable collection of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia. The greater portion of the collection here is derived from the library of the famous antiquarian A. H. Cassel of Harleysville, Pa. The Pennsylvania State Library at Harrisburg is also strong in the earlier period of American Mennonite literature. An extensive collection is to be found in the Schwenkfelder Historical Library at Pennsburg, Pa. Here the greater portion comes from the S. W. Pennypacker Library, this institution having purchased en bloc the entire Mennonite, Dunkard, Schwenkfelder, and Moravian sections of Pennypacker's collection some years ago. The New York Public Library of New York City has numerous titles. The Walter Sylvester Hertzog Collection of early German-American literature which Dr. Hertzog has announced is being given to the Harvard College Library, contains many of the earlier titles. Scattered titles, chiefly of the earlier period, are to be found in the library of the Library Company of Philadelphia, in the Library of Congress, and in the library of the American Antiquarian Society at Worcester, Mass. All of these libraries were drawn on in the preparation of this work. All but the collections in Harvard, Worcester, and New York have been examined personally by the author. In addition the publishing houses of the various Mennonite branches were relied upon for information as to current issues. Particularly is this true of the following: Mennonite Publishing House, Scottdale, Pa.; Mennonite Book Concern, Berne, Ind.; Mennonite Brethren Publishing House, Hillsboro, Kansas; Krimmer Mennonite Brethren Publishing House, Chicago, Ill.; Rundschau Publishing House, Winnipeg, Man.; Bethel Publishing Co., Elkhart, Ind.; Herald Publishing Co., Newton, Kansas. Of the antiquarian book dealers, but one was of appreciable assistance, namely, C. W. Unger, of Pottsville, Pa., who specializes in German-American printing, and whose extensive collection of Pennsylvania-German imprints is undoubtedly unrivaled in America.

I am greatly indebted to numerous friends without whose gracious cooperation it would have been altogether impossible to prepare this bibliography. This friendly assistance from many quarters has been a source of much satisfaction, and has no small share in whatever value the bibliography may possess. A check list for the earlier sections was sent to a considerable number of libraries and individuals. Personal visits were made to nearly all the libraries having collections mentioned, and much help was received from personal conferences with the librarians in charge. These visits were supplemented in many cases by extensive and fruitful correspondence. In other cases the entire work was carried on through corespondence without the privilege of personal consultation. In the planning and organization of the work I am indebted to several of my colleagues on the Faculty of Goshen College, in particular to Dr. Ernst Correll whose counsel was a constant stimulation and aid. For indispensable assistance in collecting titles and other information I owe much to Prof. H. W. Kriebel, Assistant Librarian of Schwenkfelder Library at Pennsburg, Pa.; to the Rev. S. M. Grubb, Pastor of the Second Mennonite Church in Philadelphia, whose extensive private library of Mennonitica was freely at my disposal; to John Horsch, Librarian of the Mennonite Publishing House Library at Scottdale, Pa.; and to H. R. Voth, in charge of the collection of the Mennonite Historical Society at Newton, Kansas. Of the many others who graciously aided in the gathering of material, only a few can be mentioned, in particular the librarians and their staffs of the following libraries: The Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania State Library, American Antiquarian Society, New York Public Library, Library Company of Philadelphia, Juniata College Library, Bluffton College Library and Bethel College Library, also H. P. Krehbiel, Newton, Kans., Dr. C. Henry Smith, Bluffton, Ohio, Dr. E. E. S. Johnson, Hartford, Conn., L. J. Heatwole, Dale Enterprise, Va., Joseph K. Ruebush, Dayton, Va., Dr. J. W. Wayland, Harrisonburg, Va., S. F. Coffman, Vineland, Ont., J. F. Funk, Elkhart, Ind., F. C. Fricke, Ithaca, Mich., N. B. Grubb, Philadelphia, Pa., G. P. Schultz, Chicago, Ill., P. H. Berg, Hillsboro, Kans., H. H. Ewert, Gretna, Manitoba, Frank Eshleman, Lancaster, Pa., J. W. Tschetter, Chicago, Ill., J. F. Lehman, Berne, Ind., C. H. A. van der Smissen, Berne, Ind., and Prof. J. N. Byler, Hesston, Kansas. My brother, C. K. Bender, kindly prepared the indexes.

Acknowledgement is due to Goshen College, the publishers of the Mennonite Quarterly Review, for permission to reprint the bibliography, most of which appeared originally in the columns of this journal in 1927 and 1928, although it has since been revised. Acknowledgement is also due the Librarian of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania for permission to make reproductions of the title-pages of three rare early Mennonitica.

Earnest as the attempt has been to make the bibliography absolutely exhaustive and accurate, the author is keenly aware of the deficiencies of his work. Particularly is this true of the later years. Here the ideal of absolute completeness seemed unattainable and it became necessary to be content with less than exhaustiveness unless the book was to be indefinitely withheld from publication. In spite of this and other deficiencies which may appear in use, it is to be hoped that the work may serve as a practical and convenient bibliographical manual for those interested in the literature and history of the Mennonites of North America.

This Mennonite Hymnbook was first issued about 1570 (first dated edition 1583), and at least ten other times in Europe, the last time at Basel in 1838. A large number of the hymns were composed by a group of Swiss Brethren in prison at Passau on the Danube ca. 1535. The remainder of the hymns are of the 16th. century. The appendices are not to be found in the European editions. The Ausbund was used by the Swiss and South German Mennonites only. It is still in use among the Amish in this country. All the American editions up to the Lancaster edition of 1880 may be distinguished from the European editions by the perpetuation of a printer's error in the first American edition, Passau being spelled Bassau. Evans is wrong in suggesting editions of 1757 and 1758.

This book contains the epistle from Michael Sattler to the Church at Rottenburg, 1527; Confession of Faith by Thomas von Imbroich, and numerous other testimonials, epistles, prayers, and hymns by Mennonite martyrs. Previous editions appeared in Europe in 1702 and 1742. The American edition is the first book printed on the Cloister Press at Ephrata. It was issued in two editions, according to Evans, who states that the one with preface was intended for use of the Ephrata Cloister itself, the other without preface for the use of the Mennonites. The two copies in the possession of the Goshen College Library differ in title page but both have the preface, being identical otherwise. The second copy differs in title page by inserting a list of contents after "sind", in nine lines, by omitting the last sentence, "verlegt, etc." and by spelling Efrata Ephrata. This copy carries the title page of the first copy bound in at the end.

The appendix does not appear in later editions, but other appendices appear in the editions from 1785 on. The origin of this book is obscure. A European edition of 1753 is known. It was apparently the prayerbook of the Mennonites of the Palatinate.

First published in Dutch in 1660, second edition in 1685, with the title Het Bloodig Tooneel of Martelaars-Spiegel, an enlargement of the earlier Het Offer des Herrn, first issued in 1564, and reprinted many times with frequent enlargement and revision. This was the largest book printed in the American Colonies before the Revolution. Some copies were supplied with a frontispiece showing Christ being baptised by immersion. This being distasteful to the Mennonites, who were not immersionists, the plate was omitted from most copies. GCL has an exemplar of each type.

Heinrich Funck (d. 1760), author of Ein Spiegel der Tauffe, was the only theological writer of the Mennonites in the 18th century in America. Christopher Dock's writings were pedagogical, though very religious, and Christian Funk's Aufsatz was but a sixteen page personal defence. The Biel reprint was the first European reprint of an American Mennonite Author.

The first edition of Philips' Enchiridion appeared at Harlem in 1564, in Dutch, and later at the same place in 1578, 1579, 1600, 1627. A German edition appeared in 1715, another at Basel in 1802. A French edition appeared at Lionnois (Lyons?), 1626. The book is still popular among the Amish because of its strict teaching on the Ban and Avoidance.

Contents: Vorrede, pp. 3-16; Einleitung, 17-23; Music, 24-80; Ein Gespraech zwischen einem Schueler und seinem Lehrer, 81-85; Nachricht, 86; Register, 87-88. The Nachricht is signed "Geschrieben im Monat Juli, 1816. J. F." According to tradition handed down by John Funk, son of Joseph Funk, and reported by Dr. J. W. Wayland, the book was printed in 1816.

The Nachricht states that many of the melodies are taken from the Reformed Hymn Book, that Pastor Johannes Braun wrote the Vorrede, and that Dr. Salomon Henkel bore a substantial share of the printing costs.

Choral-Music is the first Mennonite musical production, and was evidently intended for general use. Joseph Funk and his sons continued to publish for years a long series of music-books and hymn books, of which the most famous was the Genuine Church Music, later called Harmonia Sacra. Joseph K. Ruebush continues the Funk printing establishment at Dayton, Virginia. J. F. Funk of Elkhart took over the Mennonite portion of Joseph Funk and Sons work.

This book is apparently the first publication issued by the Mennonites in Canada, although the catechism of 1824 at Ephrata was printed for them on request. On March 4, 1835 a proposal to establish a printing press in Berlin, Waterloo County, Ontario was drawn and opened to signature by those willing to contribute to the subsidizing of the enterprise. Thursday, August 27, 1835 the first fruit of the enterprise appeared in the form of the first number of a weekly newspaper entitled, Canada Museum und Allgemeine Zeitung. The printer's name is given as Heinrich Wilhelm Peterson. The list of subscribers to the enterprise includes a large number of Mennonites, prominent among them being Benjamin Eby and Heinrich Eby, the latter of whom soon (1840) issued publications over his own name as printer. Apparently Eby took over the Peterson press at that time. It is possible that this Mennonite hymnbook was the first book of any sort printed in Waterloo County or for that matter in all of inner Canada. The preface is dated at Berlin, September 24, 1836. The collection was probably edited by Benjamin Eby, bishop and schoolmaster among the Mennonites, the founder of the city of Berlin. Strangely there are no hymns from the Ausbund in the collection, and no hymns of characteristically Mennonite teaching.

1837 Funk, Joseph

THE CONFESSION OF FAITH of the Christians Known by the Name of Mennonites in Thirty-three Articles: With a Short Extract from their Catechism. Translated from the German and Accompanied with Notes to which is added an Introduction. Also Nine Reflections from different passages of the Scriptures Illustrative of their Confession, Faith, and Practice by Peter Burkholder, Pastor of the Church of the Mennonites. Written by him in the German Language and from his manuscript translated together with the foregoing articles by Joseph Funk Eph. 2, 20.

Winchester: Printed by Robinson & Hollis. 1837. pp. 461, 16mo. GCL MPH JCL NYPL

The introduction of thirty pages gives the origin of the Confession and proves from Mosheim's Ecclesiastical Institutes the antiquity of the Mennonite Faith, tracing its origin to the Waldenses. The Confession itself is a translation by Funk from the Martyr's Mirror in German, probably the Ephrata edition of 1748. The Confession will be found there on pages 426-478. Van Braght is ignorant of the provenance of the Confession but dates it about 1600. The translation of the Confession was undertaken by Funk at the request of the "brethren", according to his statement at the end of the book in "Remarks". The remainder of the volume is occupied with translations from Peter Burkholder's writings, and a translation of a catechism called Extract from the Catechism, found in the Christliches Gemuethsgespraech. The catechism consists of 35 questions and answers and is confined chiefly to distinctive Mennonite teachings. Collation: 4 blank pages title page (reverse blank), introduction 3-30, Confession of Faith 31-264, Reflections 265-405, three statements on the administration and significance of Baptism from Burkholder's German manuscript 405-423, Extract from the Catechism 424-434, On predestination from Burkholder's German manuscript 435-461, 7 blank pages.

Collation: Brief an eine Anzahl zur Mennonisten Gemeine gehoerigen Familien, welche im Jahr 1800 von Pennsylvanien nach dem Niagara District, in Ober Canada gezogen sind, 2-14; Ein Brief aus Preussen an Benjamin Eby in der Provinz Ober Canada, 15-23; Ein Brief aus Brandenburg an Benjamin Eby. 24-29; Auszug eines Briefes aus Baiern an Jacob Meyer, 30-32; Ein Brief aus Daenemark an die Mennoniten in Canada, in America, 33-42; Zugabe: Eine Kurze und Aufrichtige Erklaerung . . . . (Petition of 1775 to Pennsylvania Colonial Assembly vs. Military burdens.) 43-47.

The first letter is dated "Bedminster Taunschip, Bucks Caunty, Pennsylvanien, den 4. September, 1801," and is written by Jacob Gross in the names of Jacob Gross. Abraham Wismer, Abraham Oberholtzer, Johannes Funk, Rudolph Landis, and Samuel Meyer, in reply to one written by Samuel Meyer on behalf of the settlers in Lincoln Co., requesting counsel and help in the organization of a congregation. The letter from Prussia is dated "Herrnhagen, den 2ten July, 1820" and written by Isebrand Wiebe in reply to a letter from Benjamin Eby of January, 1818 requesting information about the Mennonites in Europe, and about the Mennonites in Thessalonica. Eby has added four pages of notes in fine print with information about European Mennonites taken from Religions-Kirchen-und Schul-wesen der Mennoniten, Maertyrer Spiegel, and Jacob Mehrning. The letter from Brandenburg is dated "Brenkenhofswalde bei Driesen an der Netz, in der Neumarkt Landschaft Brandenburg, den 16ten Januar, 1819", and is written by Wilhelm Lange in reply to the same letter which had come to Isebrand Wiebe and which the latter had passed on to Lange for reply. The letter from Bavaria is dated "Herdhof bey Neuburg, an der Donau, den 31sten May, 1824," and is written by Daniel Mueller and Heinrich Mueller giving information about the churches in Bavaria in reply to a request for the same. The letter from Denmark is dated "Friedrichstadt an der Eider, im Herzogthum Schleswig, Koenigreich Daenemark, den 29sten August, 1838," and is written by Carl Justus van der Smissen asking information about the Mennonites in Canada concerning whom he has heard from a brother-in-law, Heinrich van der Smissen, who was living near Toronto. He also offers some information about Mennonites in Europe and about his own congregation at Friedrichstadt.

—— ZWEYTER BRIEF AUS DAENEMARK AN DIE MENNONISTEN GEMEINE IN CANADA.
Berlin, Canada: Gedruckt bey Heinrich Eby. pp. 23, 24mo. GCL
The letter is a second one from Carl Justus van der Smissen to Benjamin Eby, dated at Friedrichstadt, May 19, 1840, written in reply to a letter of Eby's dated March 25, 1839. The letter is lengthy and very informing. After referring to some reports he has heard about the unfavorable spiritual conditions among the churches in the United States he gives a lengthy description of the Mennonite practices, administration of the ordinances, church government, etc., as found among the North German and Prussian congregations. In reply to a request from Eby for certain books he states that he is unable to furnish any except the Cornelis Ris Confession of Faith but announces the sending instead of a chest of books as a gift from Carl Christian Tauchnitz of Leipzig, the well-known publisher. The list as given includes thirteen titles. By chance the Goshen College Mennonite Historical Library has in its possession one of these volumes, with the probable autograph "Geschenck von Carl Christian Tauchnitz", Das Buechlein von der Nachfolge Christi by Thomas a Kempis, Leipzig, Tauchnitz, 1824. The letter contained a list of the Prussian Elders, Ministers, and Deacons then serving, which is unfortunately not printed. This booklet is bound with the 1840 letters in the copy at hand.

—— Sherrick, David
(BRIEFE ZWISCHEN MENNONITEN IN CANADA UND BADEN, GERMANY) n. d. n. p. pp. 24, 12mo. GCL SMG

This pamphlet has no title page and bears no date. The preface states that Elias Eby had become acquainted with a Mennonite in Baden through business dealings and then wrote him for information concerning the Mennonites in that region. The reply brought questions concerning the Canadian Mennonites. The answer to these questions was accompanied by still further questions from the Canadian side, which in turn brought a reply from Baden.

After the "Vorrede" of one page, the booklet begins with a reproduction of the ten questions from the Baden elders concerning the Canadian Mennonites which had been addressed to Elias Eby, which occupies two pages. Follows the reply to these questions one by one, together with further questions concerning the Baden Mennonites, in the form of a letter written by David Sherrick and dated at Preston, Canada West, pp. 4-11. The date is missing, but the letter was evidently written early in 1859 since the following reply states that the letter was received in Baden August 26, 1859. The reply, occupying pages 12-24, is signed by Christian Schmutz, Aeltester in der Gemeinde zu Rappenau, Ulrich Hege von Ober Biegelhof, and Heinrich Landes von Ehrstaedt ("Beide Aeltesten der Gemeinde zu Hasselbach") and is dated at Rappenau, Grossherzogthum Baden, im Monat Juli, 1862. It is addressed to both Sherrick and Eby. A postscript states that during the writing a letter had been received from Tilman Mayer of Jordan Postoffice in Lincoln County, Canada West.

—— THE HERALD OF TRUTH. Devoted to the interests of the Denomination of Christians known as "The Mennonites". A Monthly Religious Paper published in English and German. Edited by John F. Funk.
Chicago, Illinois. John F. Funk, Publisher and Proprietor. pp. 4, 10½x 15½ in. GCL and MPH have complete files.

The first issue of "The Herald of Truth", the first religious periodical published among the main branch of the Mennonites, appeared in January, 1864. The paper has been in continuous publication to the present time, having been combined with the "Gospel Witness" in 1908 to form the "Gospel Herald", published at Scottdale, Pa. At first a monthly, the journal finally became a weekly. In April, 1864, it was enlarged to 8 pages. With reduced size of 9x11½ in. it was increased to 16 pages in January, 1867. In May, 1867 the place of publication was changed to Elkhart, Indiana, where Funk had set up a printing establishment of his own. The printing had been done before this time by Chas. Hess of 93 Randolph St., Chicago. In February, 1869, Abram K. Funk entered into partnership with his brother and the publishing firm became John F. Funk & Bro. In 1875 a stock company was organized to take over the assets and work of the firm, and from January, 1876 on the journal was published by this new firm, the Mennonite Publishing Company. In 1878 the journal was enlarged to 20 pages, still a monthly. In January, 1882 it became a semi-monthly with 16 pages. In 1896 the page size was again enlarged to 10¾x14½, while in 1903 it became for the first time a weekly with 8 pages. For one year, March 29, 1906 to March 21, 1907, it appeared as a 10-page weekly, returning to 8 pages for the rest of its career. The last issue appeared on April 9, 1908, after which it was combined with the Gospel Witness to appear as the Gospel Herald, published by the Mennonite Publication Board at Scottdale, Pa. Editorial changes to be noted were as follows. J. F. Funk was sole editor to 1882, when the name of J. S. Coffman appears as assistant editor. In 1889 the name of A. B. Kolb was added as second assistant editor. The name of Coffman was dropped at the end of 1895, and that of Funk in January 1897, so that from February 1, 1897, A. B. Kolb was sole editor. He was displaced from February 15, 1904 to August 17, 1905, by D. H. Bender. From this time on until the end J. F. Funk and A. B. Kolb were joint editors. Thus except for a brief period of less than nine years, Funk edited the journal. The Herald of Truth had a very great influence upon the Mennonite Church and its development throughout the entire 44 years of its existence.

1864 DER HEROLD DER WAHRHEIT. Gewidmet den Interessen der als Mennoniten bekannt christlichen Gemeinden. Redigirt von Johannes F. Funk.

Chicago, Illinois. Johannes F. Funk, Herausgeber und Eigenthuemer. pp. 4, 10½x15½ in. GCL has complete file.

This is the German edition of the "Herald of Truth". Some of the material consisted of translations of leading articles from its English sister, the remainder being German contributions intended for the journal direct. What is said of the Herald of Truth in regard to publication applies equally to the Herold der Wahrheit, except that the last issue was November 1, 1901, after which it was combined with the Mennonitische Rundschau, also published by Funk. In changes in format it also followed the Herald of Truth except that in 1898 it became a 16-page monthly, and on April 15, 1899 an 8-page semi-monthly. Editorial changes to be noted were as follows. J. F. Funk was sole editor to 1888. Beginning February 1, 1888 the name of A. B. Kolb appears as assistant editor, while the name of John Horsch appears as second assistant editor from September 15, 1891 to June 1, 1895. In 1898 G. G. Wiens became editor, continuing until it was combined with the Rundschau which he also edited.

ACK has 1876-77. GCL has 1878-80.

An eight page monthly, 7x10, first edited and published by H. A. Mumaw at Orrville, Ohio. First issue, January, 1876. Beginning with the issue for March, 1878, the journal was published by the Mennonite Publishing Company with Joseph Summers as editor. Upon the death of Summers in 1892, A. B. Kolb became the editor and continued until the periodical was sold to the Mennonite Publishing House at Scottdale, Pa., in 1908, where it has since been published. On March 21, 1897, the paper became a weekly.

—— YOUNG PEOPLE'S PAPER. An 8-page Bi-weekly.

Mennonite Publishing Co., Elkhart, Ind. OCL has 1894-6.

This paper was from the beginning non-sectarian, semi-religious, intended to reach non-Mennonites as well as Mennonites, and had for a time a non-Mennonite editor. First editor, M. S. Steiner, who served to the end of March, 1895. His successor was C. K. Hostetler, who served to the summer of 1899. Later George McManus served as editor. Publication was suspended March, 1906. Contributing editors during the early period were J. S. Hartzler, Abr. Ebersole, D. H. Bender, Chas. McClintic, S. F. Coffman. It was supported for a time by the "Young People's Paper Association". It might be interesting to note that this paper was first proposed in a Sunday School Conference in 1892, and approved by vote in 1893. Cf. Y. P. Paper for March 16, 1895, p. 48.

—— A PETITION. Believing all war to be a violation of the teachings of Christ whose life and precepts we hold as our supreme law, we feel that we must also avoid having any part in Military Training, therefore we, the undersigned, humbly plead your honorable body that it pass no laws which will force militarism upon those who have religious convictions against it. We are confident that the passing of Military Laws which would not excuse non-resistant Christians would mean to send thousands of young men to Military Prisons and no good government desires this. pp. 141, 8vo. —— THE CHRISTIAN EXPONENT. A Bi-Weekly Christian Journal. Vernon Smucker, Editor.
Published every alternate Friday, by the Christian Exponent Company, Box 134, Wooster, Ohio. pp. 16, 8¾x12.

First issue, January 4, 1924; last issue, September 25, 1928. Vernon Smucker served as editor for the first two full years. His successor, Lester Hostetler, served until the periodical was discontinued. Since the initial editorial staff continued to be for the first year members of the Mennonite Church, the Christian Exponent is listed here. With the second year a few names from other Mennonite groups were added. With the fourth year, however (1927), a new policy was inaugurated by which the journal became "All-Mennonite", both in the list of editors and in policy. From this time on, the proportion of names on the editorial list belonging to the Mennonite Church was reduced to less than 20 per cent.

1860 (?) (AUFRUF)

A broadside of 6x12 inches in German, containing a traditional account of the origin of the Reformed Mennonites or Herrites about the year 1800. The account bears no title, date, or signature. However, the approximate date can be inferred since it mentions the fact that John Herr, who died in 1850, is no longer living, and the story is told as from the lips of eye-witnesses who were still living. A possible date would fall between 1850 and 1870. The account, couched in bitter language, is written by a member of the Mennonite Church who signs himself "Wahrheit".

1890 THE BUDGET. Sugarcreek, Tuscarawas County, Ohio.

Published weekly by the Budget Publishing Co., Sugarcreek, Ohio.

For over 30 years the Budget was published and edited by Amish Mennonites, and was widely circulated among Amish Mennonites from Atlantic to Pacific. The correspondence from various Amish Mennonite communities gives the Budget some historical value. Two of the leading proprietors and editors were J. C. Miller and S. H. Miller, of Sugarcreek, Ohio, the latter a Mennonite minister. For the past five years or longer it has been out of Mennonite hands.

Issued as a biweekly, first issue August 23, 1852 (June 9?), last issue Dec. 31, 1855. Financial difficulties occasioned the organization of a stock company, Der Mennonitische Druck Verein, which renamed the paper Das Christliche Volksblatt, whose first issue, still under Oberholtzer's editorship, appeared July 30, 1856. Successor to the Volksblatt was the Friedensbote (Jan. 1867), which combined with Zur Heimath (Russian Mennonite periodical 1875 ff) to form the Bundesbote, first issue in 1882.

—— DAS KANSAS VOLKSBLATT.
A 5-column, 8-page weekly established at Newton, Kansas as a local newspaper in 1897, but taken over by the Western Book and Publishing Co. (Mennonite) of Newton in 1900. From this time on it served as a semi-religious weekly newspaper for the Mennonites of the vicinity. In 1902 it absorbed a similar Mennonite weekly newspaper in Hillsboro called the "Hillsboro Post", and took the name "Post and Volksblatt". In 1909, upon reorganization of the publishing company into "The Herold Book and Publishing Co." (since 1920 called "The Herald Publishing Co.), the paper was called "Der Herold". In 1904 the size was changed to 6-column, 8-page, which has been maintained ever since. H. P. Krehbiel has been head of the editorial staff from 1900 to the present, although at various times there have been acting editors in charge, J. B. Epp in 1903, C. E. Krehbiel, 1904-1920, C. Frey, 1922, M. Schrag, etc.
This publication has been a pioneer in Mennonite journalism with its program of combining religious and secular interests into a weekly newspaper for the Mennonites. "Vorwaerts" in Hillsboro, somewhat younger, fills a similar place. "The Review" in English corresponds to the "Herold" and is published by the same editors and publishers.

The proceedings of the General Conference were printed for the first time in 1900, but have been printed regularly for each quadrennial conference since that time. ABY has a complete file. The proceedings of the district conferences which meet annually have been printed for a longer period of time, although exact information could not be secured. GCL has a Canada Conference Journal for 1898. For the years 1899 to at least 1906, the journals of four of the five (now seven) conferences were printed jointly. Since that time the journals have appeared separately. The various journals are not listed in this bibliography. ABY has a complete file of the joint journals and the Indiana and Ohio Conference Journal.

1785 Funk, Christian
EIN AUFSATZ ODER VERTHEIDIGUNG von Christian Funk gegen seine Mitdiener der Mennonisten Gemeinschaft.

Germantown: Leibert & Billmeyer, 1785. pp. 16, 8vo. E 19015 HSP

Christian Funk was excluded from the Mennonite Communion by his fellow ministers in 1777 because he favored the payment of the military tax for the support of the Revolution which was imposed by the State of Pennsylvania. A small fraction followed him but the party soon died out. In 1813 appeared a booklet entitled, "Spiegel fuer Alle Menschen", which concerns itself with Funk's life, written by himself. It is several times as long as the Aufsatz, but it could not be ascertained whether it contains a translation of the same or not.

Occasional references to editions of the Mirror in 1804, 1805, and 1809 have arisen through some unaccountable confusion. It is clear that the English edition was translated from the German which was written in November, 1809, according to the testimony of the author, and first published in 1813.

APPENDIX VII

A CLASSIFIED CHRONOLOGICAL LIST OF MENNONITE PUBLISHERS

A number of volumes were published at the cost of private individuals in the Mennonite Church during the first century of Mennonite history in America. However the first attempt at a regular and permanent publishing enterprise among and for Mennonites was the undertaking of Henry Bertolet in 1836, which died in birth. The following list of Mennonite publishers begins with Bertolet and lists all the regular publishing enterprises which have been initiated from that time to this by members of the Mennonite Church, of whatever branch, with the purpose of disseminating Mennonite literature. The list does not include private individuals who merely published one or two books or pamphlets with no thought of establishing a publishing enterprise. Enterprises marked * had no press.

The Mennonite Church

* 1836 Heinrich Bertolet, Skippack, Pa.
[1840-49 (?) Heinrich Eby, Kitchener, Ontario. Himself not a Mennonite, Eby was the son of Bishop Benjamin Eby and published some Mennonite literature on his own press.]

1847-1862 Joseph Funk, Mountain Valley (Singer's Glen) Virginia. Funk soon took in his sons and conducted the business as Joseph Funk & Sons until his death in 1862. The sons were not Mennonites. The firm still exists as Joseph K. Ruebush Co., Dayton, Virginia.

1864- John F. Funk, Chicago, Ill., and Elkhart, Ind. Chicago 1867-67 without press; Elkhart, with press, 1867-1908; Elkhart, without press, 1908-. As John F. Funk, 1864-1869; as John F. Funk & Brother, 1869-1874; as Mennonite Publishing Co., Inc., 1875-1925; as John F. Funk, 1925-. Major portion of the business including all periodicals was sold to the Mennonite Publishing House in 1908.

1876-1877 H. A. Mumaw, Orrville, Ohio.

1878- ? S. D. Gugngerich, Wellman, Iowa. For a time had a small hand press. Published a periodical for three years, 1878-81, and occasionally a few other items at later dates.

1880-1890 Abraham Blosser, Dale Enterprise, Virginia.

1889-1908 Mennonite Book and Tract Society, Elkhart, Ind., Spring Grove, Pa., and Scottdale, Pa.

1896-1898 Young People's Paper Association, Elkhart, Ind.

1905-1908 Gospel Witness Co., Scottdale, Pa.

1908- Mennonite Publishing House, Scottdale, Pa. Agent of the Mennonite Publication Board organized in 1907.

General Conference of Mennonites of N. A.

1848-1856 John H. Oberholtzer, Milford Square, Pa. Press at least as early as 1852.

1856-66 Mennonitischer Druck-Verein, Milford Square, Pa. (Mennonite Printing Union.) Successor to Oberholtzer and his press.

1867-1908 (?) J. G. Stauffer, Milford Square, Pa. Apparently successor to the press and business of the Menn. Printing Union. Stauffer operated at Milford Square to 1880, then at Quakertown. Other members of the Stauffer family such as D. G. Stauffer and U. S. Stauffer, also issued publications.

* 1867- The Eastern District Conference of Mennonites. Published the Friedensbote 1867-1881, the Mennonite 1885-1902, the Mennonite Yearbook and Almanac 1895-1924.

1875-1881 Western Publishing Co., Halstead, Kansas.

* 1882-1893 Christliche Central-Buchhandlung der Allgemeinen Conferenz der Mennoniten von N. A., Berne, Ind., and Halstead, Kansas. Official publication agency for the General Conference, operating with two branch agents, Welty & Sprunger at Berne, Ind., and D. S. Goertz at Halstead, Kans.

* 1893- Mennonite Book Concern, Berne, Ind. This publishing house has never had a press of its own. Since 1900 the printing has been done by the Berne Witness Co., of Berne, Indiana, a private concern which is in the hands of Berne Mennonites, established in 1896.

* 1899- Bethel College Schul-Verlag, Newton, Kans. Has published other material than school announcements and bulletins.

1900- Western Book & Pub. Co., Newton, Kansas, 1900-1909; Herold Book and Pub. Co., Newton, Kans., 1909-1920; Herald Pub. Co., Newton, Kansas, 1920-.

Other Groups

1878-1885 Evangelical United Mennonite Publication Society, Goshen, Ind. Press from 1879.

1885-1908 Mennonite Brethren in Christ Publication Society, Berlin, Ont.

* 1903- Bethel Publishing Co., Carlisle, O. Operated a press for a short time. At first a private concern controlled by J. A. Huffman, M. B. C. minister, but in 1918 taken over by the M. B. C. Church. In 1927 moved to Elkhart, Ind.

* 1910- Central Conference Publication Board, Danvers, and Bloomington, Ill.

* 1912- The Amish Mennonite Publication Society, Wellman, Ia.

1915- Mennonite Brethren Publishing House, Hillsboro, Kansas. A publication committee was responsible for the issuance of the denominational organ, Zionsbote, from 1884 on. Several private printing establishments were set up such as those at Hillsboro, Kans., and Winckler, Manitoba, about 1900, and one by J. F. Harms, earlier, which operated at several places, such as Medford, Okla., McPherson, Kans., etc. An official denominational publishing house was finally organized and set in operation with its own press in Hillsboro, Kansas, in 1915, under the name, Mennonite Brethren Publishing House, a which it still operates.

1915- Krimmer Mennonite Brethren Publishing House, Chicago, Ill.

1915- L. A. Miller, Arthur, Ill. (Amish)

1923- Rundschau Publishing House, Winnipeg, Manitoba. Not official, but private.

A number of the smaller branches publish periodicals without having an organized publication agency, providing for such work through committees.

A few other Mennonites have had presses which for a short time served as "Mennonite" presses. Such were J. C. Miller of Sugarcreek, O., 1890ff; E. S. Hallman, Berlin, Ont., 1902f., and Joseph B. Steiner, Doylestown, Pa., who advertised himself in 1902 as a "Mennonite publisher".

APPENDIX VIII

REVISIONS AND ADDITIONS

PAGE 1 Item 3. The Lancaster 1912 reprint of the Ausbund was reported but could not be located and is omitted under the year 1912. Since publication a copy of the first edition of the Ausbund, dated 1564, has been acquired by the Mennonite Historical Library at Goshen College.

3 Item 1. Reprints should include: Berlin 1846, 1908. A European edition printed at Kayserslautern, Germany in 1739 is in the possession of the Mennonite Publishing House Library at Scottdale, Pa.

Item 2. Reprint at Scottdale should be 1915, not 1916.

5 Item 3. The Berlin 1846 reprint was reported on good authority, but could not be located.

9 Item 2. J. C. Burkholder of Harrisburg, Pa. states that an English edition was published at New Holland, Pa., about 1815. The report could not be verified.

13 Top of page. Reprints of the Katechismus should include: Elkhart 1872, 1879.

Item 6. Reprints should read: Winchester 1835; Harrisonburg 1842; Mountain Valley (Singers' Glen) 1847, ——, 1854, ——, ——, 1858, 1860, 1866, 1867, ——, 1871, 1876; Scottdale 1915.

15 Item 2. Should be omitted altogether. It is found under the Reformed Mennonite Church, page 122.

Item 7. A detailed account of this first Mennonite periodical is given by N. B. Grubb in the Mennonite Yearbook and Almanac for 1908. The exact title and data as given by Grubb are as follows:

> Der Evangelische Botschafter. Eine Monatliche Erbauungs Schrift fuer den Christlichen Landmann herausgegeben von Heinrich Bertolet, Prediger in den Mennonitischen Gemeinden in Skippack. Motto: Ein Saeman soll der Christliche Prediger sein; aber sein Acker liegt in den Herzen seiner Gemeinde; sein Saame ist Gottes Wort. Erster Jahrgang, Erste Hefte. Ausgegeben den Ersten Julius 1836. Bete und Arbeite. Skippackville, Montgomery County, Penna. Druck und Verlag von C. A. Pulte, 1836.

The paper contained sixteen pages, size 10x12 inches. Subscription price was $1.00.

21 Item 8. Reprints at Mountain Valley should include 1877; at Lancaster should include 1875.

27 Item 7. Reprints at Elkhart 1892, 1907 should be omitted. They are editions of another book with the same title.

37 Item 3. This item should be altogether omitted as a non-Mennonite item. The editor of the Herald of Truth, 1875, p. 72, says: " . . . It is not acknowledged as a Mennonite paper by the Brotherhood because it does not reflect Mennonite doctrine, and its editor is not a member of the Mennonite Church."

43 Item 1. Add to the fine print: J. A. Ressler became editor Feb. 11, 1912.

46 Item 3. Reprints of the Sunday School Lesson Books are not listed because of the uncertainty as to the exact dates and editions.

Item 5. Add to the fine print: The Rundschau was published at Elkhart until 1908, when it was sold to the Mennonite Publishing House at Scottdale, Pa., which continued to publish it until it was sold in 1923 to the Rundschau Publishing House at Winnipeg, Manitoba, where it is still published. The present editor is Herman Neufeld. His immediate predecessors had been Winsinger, Wiens, and Fast.

53 Item 2. Reprints should read: Elkhart 1903, 1916; Arthur, Ill. 1928.

Item 7. Insert in the third line of the fine print: D. H. Bender was editor 1904-1906, S. F. Coffman from then until suspension in 1908.

54 Item 4. Solomon Kachel may have been a member of the Reformed Mennonites.

57 Item 4. The booklets by J. K. Zook are all dated 1895 because of the uncertainty of the dating. Dates could not be verified.

68 Item 6. Zweite Herausgebung is of course not correct.

75 Item 3. The first edition of this hymnbook could not be located.

93 Item 2. The European edition was printed at Speyer, not Wimpfen, Hesse.

94 Item 5. The date for this item is incorrectly reported. It should be 1874. GCL has a copy.

108 Last Item This is the "Zweite vermehrte Auflage" with 112 pages, not 86.

134 Item 8. It has been determined that the date of this booklet is 1894.

138 Item 3. The title and publisher's imprint are those now used by the present publisher. They are not the original forms.

Wm. Gross of Fountainville, Pa., wrote and published a considerable number of religious poems and hymns about the period 1890-1900. GCL has several dozen of these productions. The number was so large, and the poetry in general of so little consequence that the separate items are not listed in this bibliography.

Page 137 It has been difficult to secure satisfactory information about the earlier publishing activities of members of the Mennonite Brethren Church. Geschichte der Mennoniten Bruedergemeinde (Hillsboro, 1924) recounts the history of publication in this group, pages 263-280. According to this account, it appears that a J. W. Fast of Hillsboro, Kans., had been printing a small paper called Freundschaftskreis before the Zionsbote appeared in 1884. It also appears that in 1901 P. F. Duerksen of Hillsboro was publishing Sonntakschullektionen, Sonntagschulbote, and Kinderblatt. It appears further that the Conference established a periodical in the Russian language in 1905, entitled Golos, which was edited by Herman Fast until it was suspended sometime between 1910 and 1912. However inquiry at the Mennonite Brethren Publishing House in Hillsboro as well as the Tabor College Library in Hillsboro failed to secure definite information regarding these publications. It was also difficult to secure accurate information about the publications of members of this group in the western Canadian provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

OMITTED SCHOOL AND COLLEGE PUBLICATIONS

1908 The Tabor College Bulletin, Hillsboro, Kansas. (Mennonite Brethren).

1911 The Tabor College Herald, Hillsboro, Kansas.

1914 Freeman College Bulletin, Freeman, South Dakota. (General Conference of Mennonites).

1919 The Star, Freeman College, Freeman, South Dakota.

1922 Witmarsum Theological Seminary Bulletin, Bluffton, Ohio.

The current College Yearbooks or Annuals of the various Mennonite Colleges are not listed. These books are usually large quarto volumes, substantially bound and published by the upper college classes. Following are the annuals arranged in alphabetical order according to schools: Bethel College, The Graymaroon; Bluffton College, The Ista; Freeman College, The Lark; Goshen College, The Maple Leaf; Hesston College, The Lark; Tabor College, The Taborite; (issued irregularly and first called The Blue Jay).
